

Quarterly Performance Newsletter

SEPT - NOV 2022

Foreword from the PCC Philip Wilkinson

Welcome to my Quarterly Performance newsletter from September to November where I'll be highlighting some of the projects, initiatives and policing performance that were delivered towards the end of last year.

We have seen some great progress this quarter, with the launch of the Safety at Night Charter and our Restorative Justice Volunteers receiving a regional award being two of many great achievements.

All of these highlights have been delivered in line with the priorities within my Police and Crime Plan and which you helped to shape with your valuable input and engagement during my Use Your Voice consultation.

During this quarter I have attended a total of 41 public engagements including area boards, public meetings and forums.

PRIORITY 1: A police service that meets the needs of the community

Includes increasing public confidence, trust and our policing engagement with communities, providing a quality of police service to all our communities and giving the Police the right tools for the job.

“We are making progress in areas of delivery; however our focus remains on sustainable performance improvements over time.”

QUARTERLY UPDATES

- Recruitment of new Chief Constable commenced with candidates shortlisted.
- Safer South Wilts public consultation event held at Salisbury Guildhall on 31 October which 100 people attended in person to discuss a new Salisbury Police Station. Various sites continue to be under review.
- Two mobile police stations were purchased with the primary focus being community engagement in rural, isolated communities that may not have a regular police presence. These will be used daily with a deployment map to inform the public of their whereabouts.
- Work has begun on the new Tidworth Community Policing Hub following the PCC's £1.8million investment. The joint funding model with Tidworth Town Council offers value for money and enables a fully formed community policing team, both neighbourhood and response to look after the local community.

- Within the last 12 months, 151 officers have been recruited against a national police officer uplift average of 122. This is an exceptional increase in police officer recruitment capacity which is set to continue with 120 officers to be recruited per year going forward

“This extensive work is ongoing to better focus priorities and resources. These initial improvements in performance need to now be sustained.”
